A: The constructor of Random generates a random number from 0.0 to 1.0, and the nextFloat returns a number in the interval between 0.0 and 1.0. As you can see, they do the same thing, so you should not use both in the same code. The.nextFloat is used to generate a random number from 0.0 to 1.0, as nextInt it's used to generate a random integer number from 0 to a certain value. Take into account that, in this case, useRandom is better: it always generate the same range of random numbers, and it is better for reproducibility. 8 Things You Need to Know Before Buying Vape Oil Producing that all-important hit on your vape can prove problematic, especially if you haven't had much experience with e-liquid
