'Don't Look Back' is a humoristic point & click graphic adventure about growing up and realizing things aren't quite the way we expected them to be. While doing such things as starting working, moving to live together, meeting a girl, finding a flat, getting a job, finding a place to live and so on, Max will face several unexpected situations in which he will be required to change his mentality, step by step. His daily struggles to make a living and take care of everything around him, will create a story where every day will bring new solutions, affecting the way he will think about the world, his relationships and himself. With this game, a game full of humor, Max will have to face his biggest problem: the future. Feeling like he doesn't have anything more to live for, he will have the opportunity to try everything, think everything and try again and again. Everything will be controlled by the state of his mental health. Each location has their own mood and atmosphere, whose balance depends on Max's emotions and his relationship with himself and the rest of the world. As everything will happen in a realistic way, you will be able to make choices depending on what he will do, how he will look at the situation and how he will feel about it. Don't look back; because this time, everything you left behind is real and you can do something to change that. Estimated playtime: One hour Controls -Arrows/mouse - Move and interact -Left click - Interact -Z - Pause Tips: -Play the full-screen mode! Use the F key or the 'N' key to do so. -Keep trying different combinations of actions/interactions for every location, all the environment and objects will be different depending on how you interact with them! -Funny and interesting place to explore! -Items and objects and obstacles are often 'hidden' in unusual places! Take your time, explore all the locations! -Once you know the locations and the objects you have to interact with, you will notice there are different interactions depending on what you are doing. Knowing how to interact with the objects will make your quest much easier! -There are many pop-culture references in the game! -A typical tutorial is included at the beginning of the game. -Don't expect a game about growing up, it's a silly and funny romp through the troubles that happen during c9d1549cdd

Now I will go back to my rifl and leave this post here to help you you can access directly to "my site", with a link direct to the thread.You can also find there links to the other participants of this event, hope that you find there what you were looking for. That's all. (Maybe I'll submit it to the section "cheats" you know it). Thank you for the feedback, are the 24 levels are good? I have this one open, and I only have 6 levels completed (I'm still working on "background") but I feel that perhaps the project I present is a little too long. I think the map should be about 3-4 GB, and others also have fear to spend too much on mods... I'm also sorry for not reply to your messages. That's because I'm still working on "Citadel" and I do not have much time to do other things except these mods. Hello, good news for you, Kaze's project is now finished and he has submitted the game in GameDev here: Game "CHAOS - In the Darkness" Gameplay Hi I have something that I think could be of some interest to everyone and it's this mapping I have been working on now for about 2 years and I've just got to the middle of the map now the story is set in an abandoned city in the middle of a desert called Sinjir which was hit by a comet, it can be very dark and mysterious in Sinjir and the following stages a very good challenge as soon as you hit the (2007) GameSpot: A 3D game whiz and automotive technology geek, Langston buys a console and camera for his home workshop to research U.S. emissions laws. It seems like a simple enough premise, a man trying to hack a means of testing the facts that are readily available before he buys a car. He ends up a little too deeply enmeshed in the details of the tests themselves to explain to those around him why he has done what he has done. You're in the stand, where the car is testing bad. You know you're looking at a bad engine. You're looking at a failed injector. You're thinking, what's the worst that could happen? Should I do anything? You put your hand in your jacket pocket and your phone rings. It's your friend. He's outside in his truck and he wants you to send this image. Click the photo and send it to me. There. It's the engine you inspected. It's 5:45. Time to go to work. I asked fellow Gaming Scout Brad Shoemaker for some GameSpot inklings, and it turns out, he's not the only one around here who's bored at home. What's the dumbest thing you've done with a game console? Gaming I put together a 3D car racing game with a friend at college. We mostly used RPG Maker but there was only one other RPG Maker engine with working online play. It was really primitive, but worked fine except when it wanted to load the map. So when I was getting ready to close out my final year, we made a little stopgap version of the game that used a completely in-house engine we'd written in XML instead of making a different player. After the college game engine was no longer needed for our purposes, we figured we'd just delete the project using XML and keep it on github for inspiration for a final project. However, by then, we were over the worst of the semester crunch. By the end of our project, we'd cleared out all of our spare time and were dragging on our last day of school. While trying to clean up the files from our old project, we found a file for a new game in it - maps. So I started sketching up

This game is a challenging twin-stick side scrolling platformer set in a terrifying landscape of death and destruction. You are the last guardian, the last defender of your kind. You must traverse across the scattered remnants of a destroyed world, tackling obstacles in your way and fighting the relentless hunters that hunt you.

WARNING: Your wits will be tested from beginning to end. You could die at any moment. Your only hope is to learn and master the game, become a master player, and save your kind. Key Features: ... 5 reasons why you should buy One Watcher One Watcher is a retro-inspired, retro-contemporary, platform-adventure game that combines the best of platforming, retro, and innovative platforming to a challenging, atmospheric, and fast-paced game. Transforming allows you to climb steep walls, slide ceilings, and jump midair to avoid deadly machinery. One Watcher is easy to learn but hard to master. You are the last guardian, the last defender of your kind. You must traverse across the scattered remnants of a destroyed world, tackling obstacles in your way and fighting the relentless hunters that hunt you. WARNING: Your wits will be tested from beginning to end. You could die at any moment. Your only hope is to learn and master the game, become a master player, and save your kind. 5 Reasons to Buy: 1. Original Retro-Contemporary Gameplay. One Watcher takes you back to the origins of platform games. There is no dying. Transform, jump, and slide to avoid obstacles, and take advantage of different elements and environments. Solve puzzles using your arsenal of weapons, and use the different transformations to reach different platforms. In the end you'll face the one threat that will stop you: the relentless hunters that hunt you. 2. An Intimate, Original Game. One Watcher is a small, intimate, and original game. More than the sum of its parts, One Watcher provides a fresh experience because it focuses on a unique mechanic - transforming - and features beautiful hand-drawn art, sound and music, and a vibrant narrative. 3. Difficulty and Variety. One Watcher challenges you the whole time. Difficulty in this game is diverse. There are puzzles, platforming, exploration, and even boss fights. There is also a hidden challenge mode. Want to play to your own pace? You can completely ignore one of the later chapters, if you want to. 4.
