What's New in the Dailypapers?

Extension called 'Dailypapers' that automatically changes the desktop wallpaper of chrome everyday with the best landscape photos of 'EarthPorn' subreddit. Ads There I am, sitting at the computer playing Need For Speed, and for some reason I've got a weird feeling there's someone watching me. I find out the person is me as I realize I've been captured by my iPhone's front facing camera and a local photograph of myself is now plastered across the screen. With the Dark Knight Rises approaching, I figured there would be no better time to let you, my loyal readership, in on my photography rants and raves. I don't consider myself a good photographer, but I do like to try different kinds of shots and go to different places. Some recent examples of my photos are the Vegas photos I took while vacationing there with my girlfriend and a few others that I took during my time in the jungles of Nicaragua. The last example is just a random shot of the inside of my C300 that I took at the Sedona Photo Festival a few weeks ago. This past month, I've been taking lots of photos of our new house. I'm really excited to start using it, and the cool thing about it is that it has a full outdoor kitchen with a built in grill and a fire pit so I can make delicious s'mores from the back yard! But I digress. The photographs I've included with this post are the most popular ones from my Twitter, Instagram, and Facebook. The reason I post these photos is because I use Twitter for posting photos I've taken and Instagram for posting photos of people I know. I post all of my blog posts on Facebook. I hope you all enjoy my posts, and I hope to hear from you. If you have any questions, I'm always here to answer them. In what should come as no surprise, I'm going to go ahead and mention that all photographs featured in this blog post are mine unless otherwise noted. Please note that any of my photos are free for non-commercial use with attribution by contacting me if you would
