Intelliadmin Network Administrator 3.0 Portable !!INSTALL!!

it is offered in a u3 and a non u3 format. they even offer their own custom roboform usb key. roboform can fill in long registration forms with one click, it can synchronize your passwords between computers and it claims to be able to defeat keyloggers. there are two editions of roboform 2 go; a free version and a pro version. the free version cannot be used in a business environment for more than 30 days. since roboform caters to fillin gout long web forms it is designed to closely integrate with your web browser in the form of a toolbar. it runs in the background from the portable storage device with a systray icon being the only visible indicator of its existence outside of the browser. for even more portability, you can use the roboform online service that stores your passwords in their cloud. there are many more password managers out there for you to evaluate, but those are two of the more popular titles. ftp <ftp://ftp.ics.uci.edu/pub/ietf/www/http/draft-ietf-httpbis-http2-13.txt> ftp <ftp://ftp.ioz.de/projects/fireftp/fireftp-src/fireftp.exe> intelliadmin network administrator 3.0 portable youll notice that the file is located on the internet, and the url might be a little more intimidating. the way to get around this is to use a url shortening service like bit.ly and then use the link provided in the text of the download. the end result is a short url which you can copy and paste into your browser to download the file. for example: while it is tempting to use a portable storage device with a pre-built operating system, i try to keep my portable storage devices pretty clean by installing only my own applications and programs. that way, if something does go wrong, i am not stuck with a system that i have no idea how to remove from the hard drive. one of my favorite applications for this is portableapps which i use to find, download and install portable versions of windows applications such as winrar and mozilla firefox. it is absolutely free and can be used on any windows computer. with that said, here are some free windows applications that i use on a regular basis:

i have not personally used any of the portable tools for linux but i know several people who swear by them. portableapps is a good example of an application designed to work in portable mode. with portableapps, you can create an installation media for just about any windows operating system and you can then easily transfer any of the applications from that installation media to any windows system.

you can even send
your installation
media to friends and
share it with them to
keep things clean.
even if you have a
portable version of
windows 7 or
windows vista, that
might not be enough
to ensure that all
your files and
applications are

backed up. there are
a number of
programs that will
backup your data
including symantec,
carbonite and
backuexec.
