If you are working on multiple sites with a lot of common classes and css files, or when you're developing a web page in a browser that is not WebKit-based, you can easily apply different CSS styles to the same HTML elements using the same CSS class. You can then configure your favorite HTML/CSS editor, e.g. Visual Studio 2010, to use KEYMACRO to refer to a CSS class with a keystroke macro to have its styles applied. After that, you can run the web page in an external browser, e.g. Firefox, and the styles associated with the class will be applied.

Diastereoselective α -Hydroxylation of Enamides with Rhodium-Catalyzed Oxidative Cross-Coupling. The first highly diastereoselective oxidative C-C bond-forming reactions of enamides with Rh(I) catalysts was developed. Aryl-substituted enamides were converted to α -hydroxy aryl derivatives through Rh(III)-catalyzed oxidative C-H activation, followed by Rh(I)-catalyzed α -hydroxylation with O₂. The present invention relates to novel amido substituted polyalkylpiperidine derivatives of formula (I) which are useful as therapeutic agents for mammals suffering from diseases associated with smooth muscle spasm such as, for example, premature labour, dysmenorrhoea, asthenia and asthma, and for inflammation, pain, migraine, platelet aggregation and arterial spasm. Various 3-substituted piperidine derivatives are known to be useful for therapeutic purposes and, in particular, for the treatment of migraine and as anti-spasmodics. U.S. Pat. No. 3,839,587 discloses that certain 3-substituted piperidine derivatives of formula (I) are useful for the treatment of migraines and that one such compound, 2-amino-3-[(2,4,6-trimethyl)phenyl]-4-methyl-1,2,3,4-tetrahydropyrimidine-5-carbaldehyde, 2-[N-phenyl-N-(2-hydroxy-3-methoxyphenyl)]-ethylamine, has proved particularly useful. R. J. R.

XRefresh provides a kind of live editing for web pages with automatic refreshing. This means that you can edit the web page in your web editor, commit your changes and see the new pages in your browser right away. With this method, you can make changes to your webpage locally, and you don't have to wait for the server to respond to the changes you've made before refreshing the page in your browser. After installing XRefresh, you can enable Soft Refresh in the "Refresh Hot Spots" preference page of the Firefox Options panel. You can also enable Soft Refresh in the "Refresh Firefox Web Page" setting of the plugins tab of the Preferences panel, if you prefer to use that option.

Compatibility XRefresh works with Firefox versions 24 and earlier. You can manually install it if you need to use it with older versions. See also History of the Internet External links XRefresh Home Page Plugin description and screenshots on the Mozilla Developer Network Official GitHub repository Category:Firefox add-ons¹. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a digital recording apparatus for use in recording and reproducing digital audio data or digital video data, a method for controlling the same, and a program. 2. Description of the Related Art With the recent progress in audio-visual data compression techniques, there has been a demand for a higher-quality digital video disc. In response to this demand, various types of standards for compressing and recording video data are being studied. For example, the MPEG standard is a typical example. According to the MPEG standard, video data is compressed by orthogonal transformation, such as discrete cosine transform or the like, and motion compensation, in units of relatively large data sections called GOPs (Groups of Pictures). Video data to be recorded on a video disc conforms to a so-called hierarchical structure. More specifically, GOPs of variable length are recorded on the video disc, as shown in FIG. 1. As shown in FIG. 1, each GOP is composed of a header section H, an I (intra-) section I, a P (predictive) section P, and a B (bidirectionally predictive) section B. In other words, GOPs of various lengths are used, and a GOP of a predetermined length is selected and recorded from among them. In a case where a GOP is of a relatively short length, the header

----- XRefresh is a browser plugin which will refresh the current web page due to file changes in selected folders. This makes it possible to do live page editing using your favorite HTML/CSS editor. The typical usage scenario is for local web development on a machine with two monitors. The first monitor is for the source code editor and the second one is fully dedicated to previewing the web page in Firefox. Thanks to XRefresh, the page in Firefox is automatically updated with saved changes in the source files (html, css, js, images). XRefresh also provides the advanced feature "Soft Refresh", which enables you to modify CSS files on-the-fly without a full refresh. With this feature you can get a similar experience to live editing of CSS in Firebug (without the pain of syncing changes back to your source). Achievements -----

--- 1. Use XRefresh in your development workflow and take advantage of the features described above. 2. Try out the different ways of working with XRefresh in the following sections. Installation -----

----- 1. If you are using a Linux/Unix type distribution you should install XRefresh using your package management. 2. If you are using Windows, follow the instructions here. 3. Check XRefresh for Mac OS X to get details on installing on Mac OS X. Usage ----- 1. Download and install XRefresh from the link on the right. 2. In Firefox go to Options / Plugins / Add Plugins. 3. Select the XRefresh entry in the list and click on the button "Install". 4. Restart Firefox. 5. To use the "Soft Refresh" feature right click the address bar and select "Add Soft Refresh List"

Available Features ----- -

"Soft Refresh" enables you to modify CSS files on-the-fly without a full refresh.

- "Instant File Refresh" refreshes your web page and changes of a single file will automatically refresh the whole page. - "On The Fly File Refresh" will automatically refresh the web page if you modify the current page using your favorite web editor, regardless of the number of files that need to be updated. - "Instant File Reload" will reload the current web page if a single file is modified (this feature is disabled by default). Alternative Installation ----- The installation instructions below are for Linux and Mac OS X. This plugin is already integrated in the mozilla-build tree (mozilla-build version is 3.0.2). Just call make You can also download the sources and the run ./configure make make install
